TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The methodology that will be carried out in this subject starts from the premise that the students are an active and fundamental part in the dynamics of the class.

Depending on the learning objectives, different methods will be used that will be specified in the different activities (lectures, practical sessions, tutorials, seminars, dialogical gatherings, etc.): expository methodology, cooperative work, group discussion, readings and individual essays, debates, practical and application activities both individual and group.

In the theoretical classes an expository and participatory methodology will be used with the application of group dynamics techniques.

The development of practical classes will be guided in a guide that will be made available to the students. Timely completion and presentation of the internship reports will be announced in advance.

Throughout the course, the student will compile a series of documents and make a series of readings and activities for the preparation and study of the subject; these documents, readings and activities must be specified and related in a didactic folder or portfolio that each student will deliver to the teacher, on the dates that are duly notified.

Team work. During the course of the course, the students will carry out a project on topics proposed by the teacher in any of the areas of Social Pedagogy. There will be a follow-up and orientation in group tutorials by the teacher. The project will be delivered in writing to the teacher and will be presented in class orally on the agreed date.

EVALUATION

Portfolio: Collection of evidence of the work done (depending on the attendance to the classes, reflections on readings made, attendance at seminars, the presentation of practices, reports, essays and, in general, productions of the student throughout of their learning process).

Evaluation and Exhibition of a guided written work, taking into consideration (a) the bibliographic search and information skills, (b) the temporary organization of the work done, (c) the organization of ideas and arguments expressed, (d) the writing and adequate exposure, (e) the originality, current relevance of the topic.

Individual written final test, with which will be evaluated (a) the acquisition of knowledge, (b) its adequate understanding, (c) the ability to exhibit and argue; and (d) the ability to apply that knowledge to issues and problems of the branch of knowledge of Social Pedagogy.

Final self-evaluation of the student, where autonomy and self-critical ability will be assessed to judge one's own achievements.

General evaluation criteria:

- Assistance to theoretical-practical sessions, seminars and joint activities.
- Active participation, commitment and interest.
- Domain and conceptual precision.
- Clarity in the exhibition and synthesis capacity.
- Structured, systematic and documented exhibition.
- Personal, critical and informed elaboration of what has been learned.
- Grammatical and orthographic correction.
- Compliance with the deadlines set during the course.

ADDENDUM COVID-19

This addendum will only be activated if the health situation requires so and with the prior agreement of the Governing Council

1.- Contents

All the contents initially programmed in the teaching guide are maintained.

2.- Volume of work and temporary planning of teaching

The teaching guide foresaw 60 hours of face-to-face theoretical / practical classes, as well as 90 non-contact hours of attendance at external events and activities, group work, individual work, autonomous study, readings, class preparation and assessment preparation. The face-to-face activities are reorganized taking advantage of various virtual formats in which the quality of the content and the interaction between the students and the teachers take precedence. Thus, synchronous, asynchronous videoconferences and presentations will be used. The tutorials are maintained through telematic communication with the students through email and virtual classroom. On the other hand, it will be possible to open debate forums on the readings and content of the topics and will set up tasks scheduled in the virtual classroom. Therefore, the volume of work is distributed as follows: Virtual theory classes: 45 Virtual practical classes: 15 Attendance at virtual external events and activities: 5 Preparation of group work: 20 Elaboration of individual works: 10 Study and self-employment: 18 Supplementary Material Reads: 10 Preparation of evaluation activities: 8 Theory class preparation: 15 Preparation of practical classes and problems: 4

3.- Teaching methodology

- Materials to understand each of the contents will be uploaded to the Virtual Classroom, the same ones already foreseen in the original guide for face-to-face teaching and completing them with more documents.
- Activities will be proposed by Virtual Classroom by creating tasks that must be completed according to the agreed times.
- Synchronous and asynchronous videoconferences will be held in the virtual classroom using Blackboard Collaborate as the main support.
- Transparencies may be uploaded to the Virtual Classroom.
- It will be possible to promote the use of the virtual classroom forum to debate the contents of the subject.
- Virtual tutorials will be maintained via email, supplemented by videoconferences if necessary.
- Emails will be exchanged with the class delegate to find out the general vision of the group, as well as doubts and / or reflections.
- It will be verified that all the students have the means to work virtually and if any difficulty is detected it can be solved individually.

4.- Evaluation

The evaluation of the exhibitions, face-to-face participation in class activities and the exam will be adapted to the virtual format.

The preparation of the activities carried out by the students autonomously will be increased from the reading of materials, exhibitions and debates in the virtual classroom, as well as from the written test on-line. Both in the practices and in the test, the students have to demonstrate the mastery and synthesis capacity of the theoretical-practical contents on the subject from the materials uploaded to the virtual classroom and that are considered relevant in a limited time for it. Collaborative work between students will be favored at all times, so that during the class period there is a relationship with classmates and with teachers.
