SUMMARY

In this subject we will analyze the tensions that help us to think about the dynamics, disparate and often contradictory, of the field of education. From the macro or meso level of educational policies to the micro dimension of work in organizations, because their study is inseparable both from the institutional framework and from the concrete organizational context and, more generally, from the transformations in the organizations that operate in other areas and are projected on this particular field.

We bet, in any case, by a look at the organizations that do not invisibilize the subjects that are part of them. The knowledge of a few theoretical frameworks to approach different institutional realities, organizational behavior and organizational design, should serve to prepare the students of the degree of Pedagogy to act as critical agents in socio-educational institutions.

The objectives of this subject are:

To know the basic conceptual elements referring to the organization and management of educational institutions.

Analyze the characteristic features of the field in which the educational organizations operate and the policies that shape the work in today.

To characterize the dimensions and variables involved in the organization of socio-educational institutions. To know principles and practices of design and actions in socio-educational institutions.

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The work in the classroom and the autonomous of the students, individual or group, guided by the teacher or the teacher, will focus, at least but without excluding other possibilities, in three areas of activity:

- a) Exhibitions and activity proposals of the teacher or professor (and, if possible, of the students) of analysis, discussion and debate of texts and other materials.
- b) Group work of inquiry with a practical side from the concepts worked in class.
- c) Individual and group tutorials.

The aim is to combine collective work sessions with group work, face-to-face sessions with individual and group work, exhibitions, debates and seminars, and individual and group follow-up of the work.

Each teacher or professor will specify in their program the different aspects of the methodological proposal.

EVALUATION

Class attendance is essential to address the three areas of activity. Students who can not attend regularly may request their incorporation into a non-attendance modality, whose evaluation will be determined in the teacher's program.

The evaluation will be based on various modalities, to be specified equally in the program of each teacher, among others:

- a) Group work
- b) Individual tests
- c) Class diaries or portfolios
- d) Exhibitions
- e) Attendance to group tutorials and follow-up of the works
