SUMMARY

The subject aims to provide students with basic knowledge of the main issues that make up the education policy, its essential principles, the doctrinal and ideological structure and the factors that determine it, relating it to the Spanish reality. It seeks to provide the concepts, elements of judgment and tools of analysis necessary to know, describe, understand and examine the politics of education in general. Likewise, it aims to develop a series of competences that allow students to investigate the keys to educational policy and build their own critical analysis on the contents of the program of the subject.

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

Depending on the objectives and each of the contents, various procedures and work methods may be used, which may include the following:

- Teacher explanation
- Reading of materials set by the teacher
- Text analysis, problem solving and case analysis
- Individual or group work
- Exhibitions and debates

The teacher will explain the main contents of each topic, which will be complemented with practical activities to which time will be dedicated to determine each week.

Likewise, students will be able to carry out any type of work or contribution, individually or in groups, to analyze and work on the contents of the subject, after consultation and agreement with the teacher.

EVALUATION

The assessment of the course will include a continuous assessment -not recoverable in the second call- (which will mean 40% of the final grade), and another of sufficiency through a test or written exam (which will mean 60% of the final score).

The evaluation will include:

- Practical activities in which, in addition to the criteria indicated below, active participation in the development of the subject will be especially valued.
- The theoretical contents will be evaluated through the general performance test (exam) indicated in the Center's calendar.
- All the contents worked on in the development of the subject will be the subject of the same.
- The value of the qualifications of the sections in which, if it is the case, the continuous evaluation and the written exam are subdivided, will be set by each professor in their specific programming at the beginning of each course.

Evaluation criteria. All the information that can be evaluated will be based on the following criteria:

- Theoretical foundation
- Understanding of the above
- Methodological rigor
- Conceptual precision
- Synthesis capacity
- Clarity in exposure
- Personal elaboration, including critical elements and well-founded arguments
- Expository correction
- Bibliographic / documentary foundation

Given the purpose of the subject, with regard to individual or group work, students must refrain from doing any practice related to plagiarism in any of its meanings and whatever its format: books, magazines, printed matter, documents, etc. All the documentation used, printed or electronic, must be treated with the appropriate appointment system
