SUMMARY

As with other art forms, the History of Spanish Cinema aims to provide an overview of the evolution of our cinematographic production, with particular emphasis on the periods, trends and authors that have mapped out the milestones of its development. We do not wish to ignore the importance of documentaries, reportage, animation films, short films and TV series, especially today when new technologies make it easier for them to be viewed and analysed. Nor do we wish to ignore the technical progress that has enabled these works to become consolidated as a modern, autonomous and specific form of communication despite their multiple connections with other disciplines. However, the time available means that we must make a selection that will enable us to tackle the issue and consider how much this field comprises and how good it is, while avoiding the pessimistic visions of previous eras and relating it to what was occurring externally.

SEMI-PRESENTIAL TEACHING

1. Contents

The contents initially included in the teaching guide are maintained

2. Workload and time schedule

The activities and their hours of dedication in ECTS credits marked in the original Course Guide will be kept. Theoretical classes (hours T) will have a presence of 100% of the students and the weekly hour of complementary activities (hour P: 15 h. in total) will be carried out preferably online. Teaching planning will be specified at the beginning of the term.

3. Teaching Methodology

Theory and practice classes that may be complemented with different types of materials and activities in the Virtual classroom.

Tutorials will be done online (through the UV corporate mail) or face-to-face by prior appointment with the teacher.

If the sanitary situation changes and no access to the University facilities is possible, teaching and tutorials will be carried out completely online. In this case, the adaptations will be communicated to the students through the Virtual classroom.

4. Evaluation

The evaluation criteria established in the Course Guide are kept.

If the University facilities were closed on the dates set in the official calendar for the final exam, the face-to-face exam will be replaced by an online test.

5. Bibliographic references

The recommended bibliography in the Course Guide is kept. If the sanitary situation changes and the access to the recommended bibliography is not possible, it will be replaced by materials accessible online.
