SUMMARY

Introduction to Sociology is a basic training subject in the first year of the Degree in Criminology. It has a load of 6 ECTS credits and is taught during the first semester. Its content has continuity with the subject of Legal Sociology and a logical connection with the subject Research Methods in Social Sciences, both taught in the second semester of the first year.

Considering its inclusion in the Degree in Criminology, the subject of Introduction to Sociology revolves around the following thematic axes:

- The sociological perspective.
- Social structure.
- Sociology of deviation.
- Urban sociology.

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

Regarding the teaching methodology, each topic of the program will be developed in theoretical and practical sessions, which will combine the teaching exhibitions and the active work of the students. Exhibition of contents and subsequent participatory debate.

Collaborative work, both in writing and through oral presentations.

Elaboration of diagrams, concept maps and synoptic tables.

Search for information, documentary data and statistics in various sources.

Group discussion and analysis sessions based on materials such as films, documentaries, exhibitions or conferences.

Reading, synthesis, analysis and critique of texts.

Performing exercises.

Attendance and active participation in workshops, seminars and conferences

Students will have relevant materials in the virtual classroom. Documents of various kinds will be used in the development of the classes, which includes audiovisual material.

EVALUATION

The evaluation of the subject of Introduction to Sociology will include two blocks and both must pass separately to pass the call.

The first block will consist of the realization of practical activities that will include the evaluation of works presented in writing, both individually and in groups, as well as the oral presentations that are developed in the classroom. In any case, and taking into account the circumstances derived from Covid-19 (or equivalent), the virtual platform intended for this purpose should also be understood as a classroom. These activities are intended to allow students to delve into the contents of the subject, by analyzing and interpreting the information obtained from different statistical and documentary sources. All activities, tasks and practices will be delivered through the virtual classroom. The grade obtained in this test will be 40% of the total grade. Continuous assessment classroom activities will not be recoverable.

The second block will consist of a written exam at the end of the semester. The written exam will account for 60% of the final grade and the objective is to assess the level of knowledge, taking into account the ability to distinguish between different theoretical perspectives, as well as the ability to analyze and interpret the dimensions of social reality studied in this subject. Students who do not pass the subject in the first call, will be able to take the second session following these criteria.

ADDENDUM COVID-19

This addendum will only be activated if the health situation requires so and with the prior agreement of the Governing Council

HYBRID TEACHING

If the academic authority determines it, this subject will be adapted to the hybrid teaching model established by the Faculty of Law, through which face-to-face theoretical-practical classes will be taught in discontinuous weeks for the student. To this end, the Secretary of the Faculty will divide the group into as many subgroups as necessary, teaching in the classroom, at the time established for the subject, to one of the subgroups each week in accordance with the calendar established by the Faculty, providing for the others, as a priority, follow-up of the class through synchronous VIDEO CONFERENCE.

The contents, volume of work and evaluation are maintained in the terms initially foreseen in the academic guide.

NON-PRESENTIAL TEACHING

If the academic authority establishes the change in non-classroom teaching, this subject will be taught to all students under the same conditions as those indicated for the non-classroom teaching part of the hybrid system. The contents, volume of work and evaluation are maintained in the terms initially foreseen in the academic guide.
