TEACHING METHODOLOGY

In the class sessions will be held dynamics of active learning that will promote the acquisition of competences, abilities and skills.

EVALUATION

It is established the following system for assessment:

- 70% Continuous evaluation: The qualification will be obtained from a sufficient number of tests and activities that cover all the content of the subject:
knowledge of the university institution and of the degree (which, among other activities, includes a visit to the Nau);
knowledge of the profession of jurist and his professional career (including visits to the City of Justice and a conference on the Water Tribunal);
search and understanding of documentary and legal research sources (bibliography, standards, judgments, follow-up of the Level I Information Competencies course); realization of a research project, and an academic work. Including an oral presentation of the same, after attending an oratory workshop.
- 30% Final exercise on the contents of the subject. There will be a theoretical-practical examination about the contents of the teaching guide: search and appointment of bibliography, search and appointment of judgments and norms

To mediate the continuous evaluation and the final test it is required to obtain a minimum grade of 4 in each of them.

In case of suspending the subject, the continuous evaluation note of those activities that have been passed will be saved, although the student must recover those tasks and exercises that the teacher deems appropriate for not having been passed during the course.

If a student does not show up for the 1st call, they should contact the professor with enough time, in order to schedule a work plan to supply the continuous evaluation. Thus, in addition to the exam, you will have to carry out the work plan that is indicated by the teachers of your group. This work plan will serve to evaluate those practical activities that are determined as recoverable by the subject's teachers. In case of not complying with this requirement, the student will not be able to reach the minimum grade to pass the module and will not be able to take the 2nd call examination. Consequently, it will be necessary that you personally contact the beginning of the second semester with your teacher to design this work plan. The part of the evaluation corresponding to attendance and active participation of the student in the classroom will not be recoverable in the second call.

In the event that a student, for justified reasons and accredited to his teacher, can not attend the continuous assessment, at the beginning of the course, or when exceptional circumstances occur, he must personally contact his professor to design said plan of work. In this case, the part of the evaluation corresponding to attendance and active participation of the student in the classroom will not be recoverable.

The copy of another student's work or the plagiarism of sources of information will suppose an automatic suspense in the subject
