SUMMARY

The four-month compulsory subject "Labour Law I" is taught in the semester and indicated course.

According to the Curriculum or Verifica, the mandatory subject "Labour Law I" has a special bond with various subjects.

Specifically the course is part of a field, called Labour Law, in which there are two subjects, Labour Law I, during a semester, and Labour Law II, throughout the year; the contents are sequenced and most of them are taught in the annual course of 9 credits.

When defining the specific content of this subject the logical sequence of skills and knowledge has been analyzed to incorporate into this course the more basic or introductory content or the one that should be taught early in the development of the subject, leaving the remaining for the other subject taught in the following year.

Otherwise, the contents of the subject may be developed in different optional or elective courses assigned to the area and that appear in the curriculum of the Degree.

The box with the contents of the subject appears in the data sheet of the compulsory subject "Labour Law", included in the Verifica of the Degree in Law (page 89).

Contents of the subject "Labour Law I", regarding the considerations made besides:

- Labour Law and Social Security: Training history. Sources
- Contract of employment: boundaries, subjects, form, classes and modalities, legal regime.
- Special Labour Relations

Comments:

The teaching program or syllabus of each of the groups must comply with the content of the academic guide prepared by the Department of Labour Law and Social Security

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

Theoretical content: The teacher will present and explain those fundamental elements that should guide students in the study and understanding of the subject. The student, meanwhile, should actively engage in the learning process through reading, before the teacher's explanation, or in class, depending on the organization of teaching time, those materials, textbooks, monographs and texts provided or previously indicated.

Applied activities: They consist in the comment of statements or press news, case resolution or activities like puzzle or questionnaires, analysis of labor issues, etc., through which students will develop the skills mentioned above.

These activities may either be complementary to the exposure of theoretical knowledge by the teacher, or focus on specific issues of the subject that will not be subject to exposure by the teacher.

These activities should be participatory and each teacher will indicate, where appropriate, which will be evaluated.

Through them the student will be introduced to and accustomed in the handling of those materials and techniques of the discipline.

Activities outside the classroom: Complementary activities such as seminars, collective tutorials, visits to public institutions, etc., will be scheduled in the context of the course and will consist of specific or interdisciplinary or cross activities, always in coordination with the other groups. The teacher must indicate whether they are evaluated or not.

Directed activities: For both tracking of the theoretical exposure and realization of the applied activities, the teacher will indicate the readings, search of sentences or case preparation, etc., which will be accomplished by the student.

Although not being object of classroom work, the teacher may also program, within the volume of student work, other activities to reinforce or review the student's acquisition of knowledge.

Unscheduled tutorials assistance: For questions on any topic or aspect of the subject and its workflow, students may attend, on the schedule set by each teacher, to unscheduled tutorials fixed by every teacher

EVALUATION

The assessment will be continuous, following these criteria.

- Global exam: 70% of the value of the final mark. To pass the course will be necessary to overcome this global exam. Each program shall specify the type of exam to be performed.
- Three additional assessed activities, to be specified by each teacher in the program, and their performance or delivery schedule as stated in this teaching guide. Whether applied activities carried out in class, or directed activities, the dedication to it should be counted in the total volume of student work. These activities will be worth: 30% in the final grade.

ADDENDUM COVID-19

This addendum will only be activated if the health situation requires so and with the prior agreement of the Governing Council

1. Contents

The contents of the course are maintained, however, depending on its nature, it will be distributed among the different types of sessions in which hybrid or on-line teaching is organized.

2. Workload and time planning of teaching

The different activities are maintained, with the hours of dedication in ECTS credits established in the original teaching guide. In the event that it is necessary to resort to hybrid or on-line teaching according to health imperatives, the sessions and activities programmed will be developed, as a general rule, on the dates and times established by the competent academic authority.

3. Teaching methodology

If possible, in accordance with the criteria established by the health and academic authorities, teaching will be carried out in full in accordance with the provisions of the Guide.

If hybrid forms of teaching are required, master classes may be held in the modality of on-line distance teaching, preferably by means of synchronous video conferencing. If the computer tools allow it, the corresponding sessions may be held in the presence of part of the students and with streaming access for the rest.

Physical attendance times of the students, according to the criteria established by the academic authority, will be dedicated to applied activities and collective tutoring. Depending on availability, streaming access will also be allowed for the rest of the students.

If throughout the course the health situation requires all the teaching to be online, depending on the characteristics of the subject, the computer availability of the members of each group and the effective functioning of the computer tools, the master classes must be carried out preferably by means of synchronous BBC videoconferences. If this is not possible, they may be replaced by uploading materials in the Virtual Classroom (VC), or voice-over transparencies. For the applied activities, which will be uploaded through the VC, interaction between teachers and students will be guaranteed, through BBC video conferences or the use of forums or chats within the VC.

In any case, apart from the personalized attention through the VC tool or e-mail, a collective tutoring system will be established, through BBC sessions or chats or forums within the VC.

4. Evaluation

The criteria set out in the teaching guide are fully maintained, both with regard to the weighting between continuous assessment and the final test, and the minimum requirements for scoring on both. The possibility of obtaining the mark for the entire continuous assessment is guaranteed in the event that the student cannot attend the activities in person due to health requirements.

The final test will be held in accordance with the provisions of the teaching guide. In the event that, at some point, due to health imperatives, the face-to-face evaluation is not possible, an objective test composed of multiple-choice theoretical and practical questions with the discount for errors, an essay question format test or an oral examination will be carried out remotely, using the computer tools available.

5. Bibliography

The existing bibliography is maintained in the teaching guide. If the health situation implies the closure of the libraries, support material will be provided through the virtual classroom.
