TEACHING METHODOLOGY

In-class activities

Critical evaluation of primary and secondary source material: In-class discussion of the most outstanding and controversial issues relating to the major genres, historical periods, intellectual contexts, literary movements, key authors and works.

Lectures will focus on clarification and discussion of key concepts and techniques for students rather than on exposition of matter they can find in the dossiers and bibliography. Consequently, students are expected to work on assigned tasks (reading sections from course dossiers, answering questions set in advance) before attending class.

Close-reading of relevant texts taking into account the texts' specific circumstances of production and reception.

Other activities: Tutorials for individual orientation.

EVALUATION

Assessment breakdown in the First and Second Calls:

- Individual written exam : 40%
- Critical and stylistic analysis : 40%
- Activities carried out during the course : 20%

In order to pass the subject, students must obtain a minimum of a 5 in both their written exam and their critical and stylistic analysis. For the second call, they will only have to repeat the activity that has not reached that 5-point minimum.

The mark obtained in the “Activities carried out during the course” will be carried over to the second call. This mark shall not be reassessed in the second call, but will remain the same as in the first call.

The ability to communicate at the B2 (CEFR level) is required to pass the course as a whole. Students whose communication (written and/or oral) displays errors that are not consistent with the above level will fail the module regardless of their performance related to the course contents.

Plagiarism will not be tolerated; it is a serious academic offence. Any student who is found to have committed plagiarism in his/her work for the course will face serious consequences which will lead to failing the whole subject.

Intellectual honesty is vital to an academic community and for the fair evaluation of the student's work. All work submitted in this course must be originally authored by every student. No student shall engage in unauthorized collaboration or make use of ChatGPT or other AI composition software.
