SUMMARY

German Language 3 is a course aimed at students who have previously taken and passed German Language 2. The aim is for students to consolidate and develop the communicative competence in the German language acquired in previous years.

Throughout the course, students will strengthen their receptive and productive skills so that they will be able to deal with increasingly complex communicative situations, while broadening their cultural knowledge of German-speaking countries.

In this subject the student's self-learning will be encouraged; the effort to put into practice the lexical, grammatical and communicative knowledge acquired will be strengthened. At the same time, students will be motivated to continue consolidating their competence in the language at a later date.

In this subject the use of information and communication technologies (ICT) will be habitual and constant. Students should consult their University email account regularly and frequently, as they will receive official notifications from the University Secretary's Office and news relevant to this subject from the lecturer. To contact the lecturer by e-mail, the student must use the account provided by the University (of the type@alumni.uv.es) and the subject of the message must include the purpose of the communication.

PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGERelationship to other subjects of the same degree

There are no specified enrollment restrictions with other subjects of the curriculum.

Other requirements

Given that the progression of German language learning during the Degree is very fast, it is essential that the student uses the 90 hours of autonomous work mentioned in section 7 to reinforce the knowledge acquired in class. to do so, he/she can make use of the many tools that the University of Valencia offers (CAU, tandems, etc.) and other methods that he/she considers appropriate.

It is recommended that you have passed German Language 2.

WORKLOAD

ACTIVITY	Hours	% To be attended
Theoretical and practical classes	60,00	100
Development of group work	10,00	0
Study and independent work	40,00	0
Preparation of evaluation activities	30,00	0
Preparation of practical classes and problem	10,00	0
TOTAL	150,00

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

1. Classroom-based training activities: 40% of the workload (60 hours):

Theoretical-practical classes: presentation of the concepts and analysis procedures associated with phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, lexis and semantics of the language by means of the expository method. Practical application of the concepts presented in the theoretical classes and development of communicative skills through individual or group work.

2. Non-face-to-face training activities: 60% of the workload (90 hours):

study, individual or group work and exercises, tutorials, preparation of continuous assessment tests, preparation and taking of final exams.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Given that the progression of German language learning during the Degree is very fast, it is essential that the student uses the 90 hours of autonomous work mentioned in the previous point to reinforce the content taught in class and to consolidate the knowledge acquired. To this end, they can make use of the many proposals made available by the subject teacher and other methods that they consider appropriate.

EVALUATION

Two assessment pathways are offered:

OPTION 1

The activities to be assessed during the four-month period consist of the following:

- 1 individual video (5%)
- 1 in-class essay (10%)
- 1 project (group work)(10%)
- Activities in class and in the Virtual Classroom (15%)

Final exams:

- Final written exam (40%)
- Oral exam (20%)

A compulsory reading will be announced at the beginning of the term and will be part of the written exam.

The final written exam consists of two parts: The first part covers listening comprehension, reading comprehension, grammar and vocabulary. In this part a minimum mark of 5 out of 10 must be obtained. If this mark is not obtained, the second part, which consists of a written production, will not be corrected.

In the second exam session, no evaluable activity can be recovered, except for the final written exam and the oral exam. In order to take the oral exam, it is necessary to have passed the final written exam with a minimum mark of 5 out of 10. The oral exam will be recorded.

OPTION 2

The activities to be evaluated during the four-month period consist of the following:

- 1 individual video (5%)
- 1 project (group work) (10%)

Final exams:

- Final written exam (50%)
- Oral exam (35%)

A compulsory reading will be announced at the beginning of the term and will be part of the written exam.

In the second sitting, no evaluable activity can be recovered, except for the final written exam and the oral exam. In order to take the oral exam, it is necessary to have passed the final written exam with a minimum mark of 5 out of 10. The oral exam will be recorded.
