TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The teacher will give students the relevant theoretical, methodological and bibliographic orientations, while promoting:- Active learning- Participatory learningThe theoretical-practical classes will be combined with the publication of materials in the Virtual Classroom, recorded presentations, videoconference tutorials and other teaching methods provided among those suggested by the UV and by the recent methodological lines in teaching innovation for the development of the teaching process. - learning.a) Activities in the classroomTheoretical classes: Theoretical presentation of each topic by the teacher.Practical classes: Commentary on selected texts.b) Non-attendance activities and work.b.1. Text commentary. Before the last school day of the subject, the comments (not summaries) of the compulsory reading texts must be submitted. These practices complement those in the classroom and allow personalized attention in small groups according to a calendar that will be established at the beginning of the course.b.2. Theory works. Before the last school day of the subject, a synoptic outline or chart (without content development) of each of the program topics must be presented. Its monitoring and control will be done during tutorial hours.c) Recommended readings that have been chosen to offer a representative selection of the contents of the subject. They are voluntary readings.

EVALUATION

The evaluation system for the subject in 1st call is Continuous Evaluation:

(A) There will be a sufficient number of assessable activities for each of the skills throughout the teaching of the subject so that each student can obtain their grade through continuous assessment (eg, resolution of exercises and problems, presentations synchronous or asynchronous, delivery of mandatory and optional tasks, written tests, participation in class and in forums, attendance at tutorials, portfolios, etc.).

(B) The evaluable tasks mentioned in point (A) will have to be developed within the academic period that the subject lasts, stipulated in the UV calendar.

(C) The activities referred to in (A) will correspond to 100% of the final grade for the subject and are distributed as follows:

1. Participation in class (10%) 2. Theory work (individual) (30%) 3. Comments or exhibition of works (group project) (20%) 4. Written test of theoretical content (40%)

(D) Carrying out the activities is considered essential to achieve the objectives of the subject. The deadlines for delivery of mandatory activities (whether at the time, as required in class; or with a fixed term) will have to be strictly respected.- Obligatory activities not carried out will compute as 0; Those delivered after the deadline (and as the maximum delivery date, the last school day established by the official calendar) will compute with a maximum of 5.- The optional tasks can only be delivered until the deadline that is marked in each of them, with a score of 0 those that have not been delivered or have been delivered after the deadline.

(E) What is described in the previous points refers to the evaluation of the subject in the first call established by the UV. For subsequent calls, a student will be graded only by completing a final exam. The exam will consist of a written test, with a series of questions that will deal with the topics of the program, in addition to the development of a text commentary. It will be necessary to demonstrate that the contents of the subject have been understood, acquired and assimilated.

(F) The overall grade for the subject will be the average of the grades obtained during the course according to the weights established in (C): $C1 + C2 + C3 + C4$. To establish the average, only the grades passed with a minimum numerical grade of 5 out of 10 points within their respective average in each of the referred sections (C1, C2, C3 and C4) will be taken into account.

(G) Fraudulent performance in a test or activity will result in a 0 grade for it.

(H) The exam will consist of a written test (on the theoretical content of the subject) with a series of brief questions that will deal with the most basic and important of all the topics of the program. It will be necessary to demonstrate that the contents of the subject have been understood, acquired and assimilated.

(I) The part of C1 will be taken into account from the active participation in class. Under art. 6 (general grading system will follow the regulations of the University of Valencia approved by the Consell de Govern on May 30, 2017. ACGUV 108/2017), this part will be fulfilled if a minimum of 80% of the the hours or the impossibility of attending the sessions due to force majeure has been adequately justified. This percentage will be defined at the beginning of the course according to the official calendar.

The general grading system will follow the regulations of the University of Valencia approved by the Consell de Govern on May 30, 2017. ACGUV 108/2017.
