SUMMARY

Analysis and Management Banking is a compulsory subject that is taught in the second semester of the third year of the Degree in Finance and Accounting.

The aim of this subject is to provide students with an overview of the main banking operations carried out in Spain, both from the point of view of their potential user and from the credit institutions that carry them out. This objective is addressed by trying to group and complete a series of knowledge, partly acquired in other subjects, focusing on the analysis of the activity of Spanish credit institutions.

PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGE

Relationship to other subjects of the same degree

There are no specified enrollment restrictions with other subjects of the curriculum.

Other requirements

The adequate monitoring of this subject requires previous knowledge of Financial mathematics that basically correspond to those already acquired in the subject of Financial mathematics of the second year of the Degree in Finance and Accounting.

OUTCOMES

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

- Master class with active participation of students (theory).
- Practical classes with approach, resolution and revision of exercises, both on blackboard and computer.

EVALUATION

The procedure for evaluating the subject will consist of: 1. A written exam at the end of the term, which may consist of theoretical questions as well as problems and / or real cases. This exam will be 70% of the final grade. A minimum grade (4 points out of 10) must be exceeded in this written test so that it can be added to the rest of the grade. In the case of not obtaining this minimum qualification, the note that will appear in the minutes will be determined by the weighted sum of the scores obtained in the continuous assessment and the written exam but in no case shall it exceed 4.5. 2. The continuous evaluation will be based on class attendance, resolution of exercises or case studies, elaboration of group work and participation and involvement in the teaching-learning process. Specifically, it is expected that during the semester students perform 2 group jobs (preferably formed by 3 people). Students must collect information on an active banking operation and a specific passive banking transaction currently marketed by credit institutions and proceed with the financial analysis and approach of both operations. Likewise, the attitude and participation of the student in class will also be taken into account. The continuous evaluation will mean 30% of the final grade of the subject and will be non-recoverable for the second call. In any case, to pass the subject it will be necessary to obtain a minimum grade of 5 out of 10.

Additionally, it should be noted that any possible change in the date and/or time of the final evaluation tests will be governed by the procedure and term established in article 9.2 of the "Reglament d'Avaluació i Qualificació de la Universitat de València per a Títols de grau i màster, ACGUV 108/2017 de 30 de maig".

In particular, in the event of a date and time coincidence between final evaluation tests of subjects of the same degree in which the student has enrolled, if it is up to this subject to make the change, a written request must be submitted to the Address of the responsible department at least one month in advance from the start of the official examination period. You can send your request electronically to: dep.economia.finacera@uv.es only from your email address alumni.uv.es. An email sent from a private address will not be accepted.

In order to qualify for the additional call, the student must justify that she has taken the coincident exam.
