SUMMARY

The Final Master's Project (supervised by the tutor assigned in tutoring sessions), consists in the practical realization of a project by each of the students, with the ultimate goal of offering them the opportunity to adopt a multidisciplinary approach in the Marketing decision making within a certain industry / sector / company.

Final Master's Project, consists in the practical realization of a project by each of the students, with the ultimate goal of offering them the opportunity to adopt a multidisciplinary approach in marketing decision making within an industry / sector / company determined.

The work requires the student to analyze data from the environment and apply a large set of skills and knowledge to solve real business problems. The objective of the work is to solve some real problem in a systematic way.

The work should contain clear objectives and be useful for a specific group, facilitating managerial implications for this group (managers, shareholders, workers, etc.) that can use the results in a beneficial way. The work must demonstrate the skills of the student as a professional in the field of marketing. In this way the student must consider ethical, legal and social aspects among others.

Thus, it is an annual subject of 6 ECTS credits, which includes the preparation of a project that will be publicly defended following the regulations established by the partner universities.

DESCRIPTION OF CONTENTS

1. Final Master's Project

The student, in agreement with his tutor, must develop a project that complies with the following guidelines:

1. Students must develop a project that consists of making marketing decisions for an organization, it is therefore to develop a marketing plan whose objectives can be internationalization, the development of a new product, the development of a strategy of positioning, the communication campaign, a distribution plan, a sales plan, ...
2. It must include an investigation. This investigation can be based on the use of a single data source (minimum) or the combination of several:
 - a) Secondary data
 - b) Data obtained through qualitative research techniques (in-depth interviews or group dynamics)
 - c) Data obtained through quantitative research techniques (it is recommended to use a sample of not less than 100 if it is directed to the final consumer or to 50 if it is industrial customers)
3. The contents of the work should answer the questions of Where are we? Where do we want to go? How will we do it?
4. Its extension will not exceed 100 folios. Annexes not included.

Taking into account these guidelines, the structure of the work should be adjusted, as far as possible, to the following scheme:

0. Index (contents, tables, graphs, tables)
1. Executive Summary
2. First stage: analysis of the situation.
3. Second stage: diagnosis of the situation.
4. Third stage: setting objectives
5. Fourth stage: choice of marketing strategies.
6. Fifth stage: definition of the action plans.
7. Budget and provisional exploitation account.
8. Monitoring and control of actions.

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

For the development of the module a tutorial system is foreseen that allows the student to direct and focus his project. In this sense, each student must contact their tutor and attend the established tutorials, where they will be advised. The student must maintain at least three interviews / contacts with the tutor, at the beginning, in the middle and at the end of the preparation of the work.

The proposed methodology can be developed both in person and remotely if the circumstances require it.

EVALUATION

The TFM deposit will be made through ENTREU and students must attach the certificate of the subjects approved in the ENTREU together with the TFM; This certificate is obtained from the Virtual Secretary of the student. Additionally, a CD copy of the Work will be deposited at the Secretariat of the Department of Marketing and Market Research (1st Floor Faculty of Economics), until 2:00 p.m. of the deposit deadline.

Presentation and defense of the project

The evaluation of the Final Master Project will be carried out before a Tribunal formed by three professors that can belong to one of the two partner universities.

The student has two calls per course for the defense of his work, although he will have three possible dates from which he will have to choose only two.

The act of defense will consist of a public exhibition by the student during a maximum period of 10 minutes. Then the court will have the opportunity to ask the questions it deems appropriate. The notes will be published after said act.
