SUMMARY

The TFM consists of an individual monographic work, through which each student must demonstrate their ability to confront with skill the aspects contemplated to the contents of the subject.

Since the TFM has a comprehensive nature of the knowledge and skills acquired in the master, its defense must be carried out at the end of the master's study period. As indicated in the Study Plan, the students who study the Master with part-time dedication will have to enroll in the TFM in the second year.

Each specialty coordinator will make public a list of the professors of the specialty who may be tutors of the TFM, and where appropriate may also make public a list of thematic lines for the TFM of the specialty, agreed with the tutors.

Each coordinator will prepare a proposal for assigning tutors to the students of the specialty.

Doctoral professors assigned to the departments responsible for teaching the specific module in this specialty who have previously obtained the approval of the CCA may be tutors of a TFM specialty.

In application of the Resolution of the Vice-Rector for Postgraduate Studies of February 2010, when the departments responsible for teaching the specific module in a specialty do not have a sufficient number of professors / doctors to tutor the students of the specialty enrolled in the TFM, They may be tutors / teachers / as non-doctors of these departments.

The CCA will organize at the beginning of each academic year the procedure for assigning a tutor to the enrolled students of the TFM. for it:

Each specialty coordinator will publish a list of the professors of the specialty who may be tutors of the TFM, and where appropriate may also make public a list of thematic lines for the TFM of the specialty, agreed with the tutors.

Each coordinator will prepare a proposal for assigning tutors to the students of the specialty.

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The memory of the TFM must be between 30 and 50 pages (not counting the cover, the index and the annexes). 2. The memory of the TFM can have a diversity of structures and contents, all depending on the preferences and traditions of the different specialties. As a suggestion, the following possible scheme is proposed: 0. Title and index. 1. Introduction. 2. Approach, problem, question or hypothesis and justification of your interest. 3. Objectives. 4. Bibliographic review. 5. Theoretical framework. 6. Methodological framework. 7. Analysis and discussion. 8. Conclusions. 9. Bibliography. 10. Annexes.

EVALUATION

1. To be evaluated, the student must deposit three printed copies of the memory of the TFM, one for each of the members of the court, and a digital version (CD or DVD) that must contain all the supporting information for the work, as well as the complete memory. The digital version of the TFM will be deposited where the CCA has. 2. Each student will make the deposit of their memory of the TFM to their tutor, by default, to the coordinator of the specialty or, by default, to the secretary of the department to which their tutor is assigned. A receipt will be delivered. Upload to Entreu with the document of agreement of the tutor / a with the secretariat seal. 3. The deposit must be made at least 15 calendar days before the date set for the defense. The memory will bring the approval of the tutor. The student will defend the work done before the court during the time and the form established by the court, and then, the members of the court will be able to discuss with the student the aspects considered pertinent about their work. The date, time and place of the defense of each TFM will be made public through each of the courts, once the memory deposit has been made, with a minimum notice of 7 calendar days from the date of reading. Once the defense of the TFM has been carried out, the court and the tutor will become a qualifying committee and will proceed to the qualification of the TFM. The tutor can participate with voice but without vote. For the evaluation of a TFM, the courts may take into account criteria such as: The formal presentation and the clarity of the work (writing, structure and balance between the parts, correct use of bibliographic citation, etc.). The originality and authorship of the work done. The TFM must be unpublished. Plagiarism or excessive use of excerpts from other publications will lead to a suspense rating. The belonging or interest of the topic (innovative aspect, not very elaborate, applicability, etc.). The theoretical foundation (application of the contents of the master, deepening, conceptualization, etc.). The methodology used (techniques used, rigor in the application, etc.). The results and conclusions presented (interest, rigor, relevant contributions, etc.). The tutorials carried out (use of the interviews, attitude, perseverance, commitment, etc.). TFMs will be scored numerically from 0.0 to 10.0 with a single decimal. In addition, the qualification of: Suspense: Corresponding to scores between 0.0 and 4.9 Passed:

Corresponding to scores between 5.0 and 6.9 Notable: Corresponding to scores between 7.0 and 8.9 Excellent or Excellent with Honor Roll: Corresponding to scores equal to or greater than 9.0 In what refers to the qualification regime, the granting of Honor Registrations and the Extraordinary Master's Prizes, the provisions of the Regulations of the University of Valencia will apply.
