SUMMARY

The Master's Final Project represents the culmination of the Master's teaching-learning process, and must be carried out in the course in which enrollment has been formalized.

The CCA of the Master will be responsible for each student being assigned a topic, objectives and a professor in charge of guiding and supervising the completion of the Work.

PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGERelationship to other subjects of the same degree

There are no specified enrollment restrictions with other subjects of the curriculum.

Other requirements

To defend the Master's Final Project, the student must have previously passed the rest of the Master's modules, with the exception of the External Practices module.

OUTCOMES

2171 - M.U. en Ciencias Actuariales y Financieras

- Students should apply acquired knowledge to solve problems in unfamiliar contexts within their field of study, including multidisciplinary scenarios.
- Students should be able to integrate knowledge and address the complexity of making informed judgments based on incomplete or limited information, including reflections on the social and ethical responsibilities associated with the application of their knowledge and judgments.
- Students should communicate conclusions and underlying knowledge clearly and unambiguously to both specialized and non-specialized audiences.
- Students should possess and understand foundational knowledge that enables original thinking and research in the field.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Abilities and / or proficiencies to:

- Develop and apply the contents studied during the Master in an individual theoretical or applied research project.
- Apply modern ICT technologies.
- Prepare a document in which a critical assessment of the information sources is carried out, the stages and contents of the work are structured and adequately described, and the results are presented in a rigorous and professional manner.

DESCRIPTION OF CONTENTS

1. The Master's Final Project

The objective of the master's final project may be a theoretical investigation or be based on the external practices carried out.

In the case of being a theoretical investigation, special reference should be made to the existing literature, the methodologies to be used in the investigation with their advantages and disadvantages, the contributions made and the conclusions of the work.

In the case of dealing in whole or in part with external practices, a solution must be provided to improve the activity carried out at the time.

In any case, the master's final project must reflect an original contribution and not be a mere description of the activities carried out or a compilation of the existing bibliography.
