TEACHING METHODOLOGY

Metodologia docent

In the theoretical sessions the teacher exhibitions will alternate with doing participatory activities and reflection by students. The methodology will be active and cooperative learning focused on the learner understanding this as a process that develops within a learning group. In addition it will enhance and assess student involvement not only in the proposed tasks, but the activities that they suggest.

The different dynamics of class that will be developed in the sessions are:

- * Discussion of some controversial issues and resolution of cases illustrative of the contents of the teaching guid
- * Field work to meet educational experiences related to course content.
- * Individual and group readings. Critical analysis of documents and newspaper articles, etc.
- * Work equipment for students to share experiences and develop cooperative work projects. To do this, it will be distributed a series of activities to do in group, later to make the sharing in class through presentations or posters.
